Increasing Transfer Student Retention: Challenges, Interventions & Programming

Thursday, July 11 ~ 1:00-2:30pm (Eastern)

Once the live date has passed, this training will be available on demand.

Overview

More than 60% of college students graduate with transfer credits, many entering college with early enrollment credit earned in high school, and tens of thousands transferring credits from two and four-year colleges. It is critical to develop institutional strategies to ease the transfer process and to ensure that students are prepared through appropriate advising. At the same time, pressure on higher education professionals to improve retention rates and ensure that graduates are ready for the labor market has increased. This webinar will highlight a model for student success that focuses on three critical stages of the transfer experience (preparation, transition, progression), presenting specific strategies to enhance advising and recommendations for programming to improve transfer success.

Objectives:

- Explore significant national trends
- Identify stages critical to transfer student success
- Emphasize inter and intra-institutional partnerships to promote collaboration
- Identify common transition challenges
- Share creative programming strategies that promote academic success
- Highlight successful approaches and interventions to improve retention and graduation rates

Who Should Attend?

- 2-year & 4-year institutions
- Academic Affairs/Instruction
- Student Services/Affairs
- Advising & Counseling
- Retention Specialist
- Outreach & Recruitment Staff
- Any educator interested in improving the transfer experience

Increasing Transfer Student Retention: Challenges, Interventions & Programming

Thursday, July 11 ~ 1:00-2:30pm (Eastern)

Speaker(s)

Charlene Stinard has more than 25 years of experience in higher education and has served as the Director of Transfer and Transition Services at the University of Central Florida.

- Promoted the academic preparation and transition of more than 11,000 transfer students each academic year and served as advocate to foster transfer student retention and graduation.
- Created a nationally recognized Peer Mentor program, and the university's first Transfer Experience Committee to promote campus-wide support and collaboration.
- Co-authored "Networks for Transfer Success" published in The Journal of Applied Research in Community College.
- Received the Bonita C. Jacobs Transfer Champion Award at the 2017 Annual Conference of the National Institute for the Study of Transfer Students.

Taggart Archibald has worked with transfer students at five colleges and universities across the United States over the past 12 years. He's been a recruiter, advisor, articulation coordinator, and a Director of Recruitment. He is currently the Director of Admissions – Engagement at Central Washington University in Ellensburg, WA and has worked with transfer students at some of the largest community colleges in the West, including College of Southern Nevada and Salt Lake CC.

Created transfer articulation agreements and worked with department chairs to decrease articulation turnaround time for students

Advised 12 transfer Ambassadors (peer mentors) to help advise in the pre-admission process

Built long-lasting relationships with 2-year and 4-year institutions to increase transfer recruitment opportunities

Developed and maintained successful transfer merit scholarships programs for incoming transfer students

Created and managed communication/marketing plans targeting FYR and Transfer students at regional and main campuses

Successfully transferred from a 2-year college to a 4-year university himself with few mental breakdowns.

Archibald has a BS in History Education from Utah State University and a Masters of Professional Communication from Westminster College. He is currently very active in campus committees dealing with how CWU engages with prospective students and looks forward to any chance to interact and help future Wildcats.
